Amanda L. Rockman appointed Trial Court Associate Justice

By John Kozlowicz
Staff Writer

Amanda L. Rockman appointed Trial Court Associate Justice

On August 14, 2006, in a ceremony held at the Tribal Courthouse in Black River Falls, Ho-Chunk Nation tribal member Amanda L. Rockman was sworn in as an Associate Justice serving the Nation's Trial Court. Thought to be one of the youngest judges in the country, on any level, the twenty-seven-year-old justice stated that because she understands that regardless of her decision(s) only 50 percent of the people will be happy, her focus will be to articulate to the other 50 percent the reasons why they lost. She believes "that tribal member judges have more responsibilities than non-tribal member judges" and promised to communicate, in layman's terms, information that will help people better understand her decisions and hopefully get more people involved in learning the legal process. "I'll try not to speak, as my father puts it, 'another language'."

Born in North Dakota, Justice Rockman comes from a military family that traveled throughout the United States prior to her graduating from high school in Oshkosh, WI. "My parents (Denis and Joyce Rockman) always encouraged education," she said, and following high school she enrolled at the University of Wisconsin-Madison where she earned Bachelors' Degrees in Anthropology and French and a minor in American Indian Studies. Particularly interesting to her were studies that defined Indian law and how the government deals with trying to reciprocate Native Americans for past injustices. With the continued support of her parents, she went on to earn her Justice Degree from the University of Wisconsin Law School.

As part of fulfilling her Josephine P. White Eagle scholarship obligation, Justice Rockman served as the Ho-Chunk Nation's Judiciary Staff Attorney and later worked in the Nation's Department of Justice.

Thankful to the Ho-Chunk Nation Legislature for giving her this opportunity, Justice Rockman explained that becoming a judge fulfills a dream. She believes that self governance is important in promoting sovereignty and that as a tribal member, with a vested interest in the Nation's future; she is well equipped to make decisions that will promote that sovereignty. She is hopeful that the Nation will continue to exert its sovereignty by extending the Court's jurisdiction to include areas such as probate and criminal jurisdiction.

Although she is looking forward to following a case from beginning to end, Justice Rockman noted that in her first month the biggest challenge has been to schedule and resolve cases that remain unsettled. Though the Legislature earlier passed an Ordinance that mandates decisions much be reached in no longer than 90 days from when a trial begins, that has not always happened and the current Trial Court staff has made clearing the backlog a priority. "Judge Matha has been instrumental in getting the backlog reduced," she said, adding that one of her goals is "to justly and timely issue judgments.

Away from the Courthouse Justice Rockman "presides" over her two children; four-year-old, Alena and two-year-old, John. She also enjoys traveling and music and has been a regular performer with the Black River Area Community Band.

Ho-Chunk Nation Closes its Doors to Vote…and Pays Employees

Black River Falls, WI - The Ho-Chunk Nation has worked very hard to encourage civic engagement and participation in elections with its employees and tribal membership. With every election, the Nation has authorized two (2) hours of paid administrative leave for employees to shuffle off to the polls and cast their very important vote, but not this time.

President George R. Lewis has authorized through Executive Order that employees will be granted four (4) hours of paid leave to vote in the primary and eight (8) hours for the General Election on November 7, 2006. In fact, the Executive Office Building will be closed for Election Day.

"Voting should be a much more celebrated event," says President Lewis "This is about taking advantage of a privilege to exercise a right and that is in itself, priceless." In addition to handing out T-shirts, yard signs, and bumper stickers in a grass-roots campaign to Get Out The Vote, staff from the Office of the President will assist employees and tribal members with questions on registration information and polling locations on top of their already busy workload.

The President hopes that others will see the virtue in his intent and that voting isn't a lackluster routine. "I hope this move will encourage first-time voters to become lifetime voters," he concludes "it is important for us to make our vote count and our voices heard."

Letter's to the Editor

To The People:
I am in search of a old service buddy, and requesting your help in locating him. The problem I have is his name has slipped my memory, it appears time takes these things from us. I do recall him telling me that he was from Wisconsin and a Winnebago, now I understand the name has been changed to back to Ho-Chunk.
I researched my old military records and was able to come up with the unit he was attached to and the dates. He worked out of the Base Finance Office of the HQ 832nd Combat Support Group (TAC) Luke Air Force Base, Arizona 85309-5000. At that time he was E-5 Staff Sergeant he was stationed at Luke AFB from around March 1982 to August 1984. I was attached to the 527 Field Training Detachment as a Aircraft Maintance Instructor. We were in the same HQ barracks.
I know this is not very much information to go on, but any help you and your staff can give, I will be most grateful. If you can locate my old buddy please pass on my contact information to him. Thank you.
Tsgt. Merrill R. Damme USAF (RET)

Dear Editor:
I wish to thank you for providing me and the Native Circle here with a great reliable news source on Indian news. I am greatly appreciative and glad to read of all the culture, language, and spiritual preservation attemps, by all of our people.
Our circle here, strives real hard to practice our traditional ways and knowing that others are also, but I practice the Lakota Inipi ways.
I realize that all of our Elders, Spiritual Leaders and Chiefs are very busy and cannot assist each and every person in prison, so I am hoping that People will share a word, story or song, if you will print this letter?
Finally, our people have awoke and we all have realized the importance of preserving who and what we are.
I welcome your words, and thank you for this great paper.

In Spirit,

Disability Starter Kit Makes Application Easier

By Bruce W. Schultz
Social Security Public Affairs Specialist

Albert Einstein once said, "Everything should be made as simple as possible …." That wisdom is certainly something with which most of us non-geniuses would agree.

Applying for Social Security disability benefits involves both government regulations and medical evidence. In order to make the application process easier to understand and navigate, Social Security has created a "Disability Starter Kit" that will help people get ready for a disability interview or online application.

The starter kit provides information about the specific documents and the information that we will ask for. The kit also provides general information about the disability programs and our decision-making process that can help take some of the mystery out of applying for disability benefits.
Each Disability Starter Kit contains:

- A fact sheet that answers common questions about applying for disability benefits;
- A checklist of documents and information we will ask you for; and
- A worksheet to help you gather and organize the information you will need.

The fact sheet provides the legal definition of "disability" and explains how Social Security decides if a person's condition is severe enough to meet the eligibility criteria. It also gives tips on steps an individual can take to speed up the decision-making process.

The checklist provides a list of the information we need for most disability claims. That includes documents such as a birth certificate, latest W-2 form and military discharge papers, and information such as the names and addresses of all the doctors and other health professionals who have treated the applicant.

The worksheet gives examples of important questions we ask during the disability application interview, such as a description of impairment(s) and the date that the individual became disabled. It also asks for a list of the medications taken and the medical tests conducted, and requests information about jobs the applicant has held.

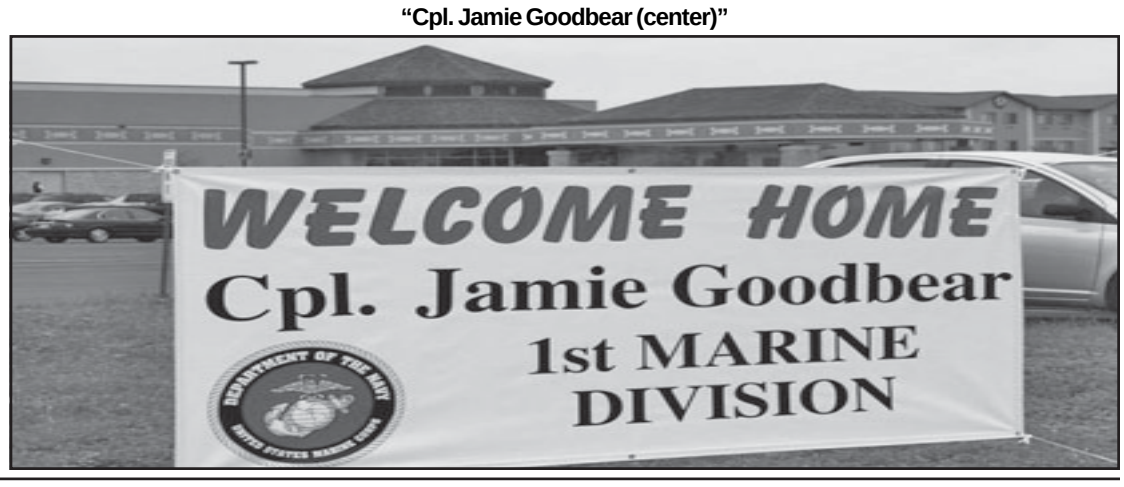

Whenever someone requests an appointment to file for Social Security disability benefits, we will send him or her a copy of the "Disability Starter Kit." Or website visitors can find the kit online at www.socialsecurity.gov/disability/ , or call 1-800-772-1213 (TTY, 1-800-325-0778) and ask that a kit be mailed to them.

Flambeau River Canoe and Mountain Biking Trip

By Cookie La Mere
Design Director

Monday, August 7th, through Saturday, August 12th, Ho-Chunk Youth learned how to camp and rough the great outdoors. The activity was longer this year because Bob Ziebarth, decided to have the youth take a mountain bike trip, for one day. Unfortunately Bob Ziebarth took ill so he was not able to make the trip, however he had Richard Brown in charge of the event. The chaperones for the trip were: Barrett Funmaker and Skylar Funmaker, Justin Harrison, Chris Montanez, and Sam White.

They camped at Camp Forest Springs in Westboro, Wisconsin. The first day they had orientation and spent the night in the rustic cabins. The next day they biked most of the day and went canoeing for four miles to where they planned to camp by the river that night.

Survivors of 2006 Bob Ziebarth's Canoeing and Biking tour

On Wednesday, they went canoeing and rock bumping on the Flambeau River. They returned to the river on Thursday. Also went swimming and enjoyed splashing each other. While part of the fun was trying to flip over other canoes, often the rocks in the rapids made the flips unavoidable.

Friday-went canoeing part of the day, by dusk they started to load the canoes on the trailers. They left the river and returned to Camp Forest Springs for a steak supper and trip summary. The students spent the night in rustic cabins.

On Saturday, they left Camp Forest Springs after breakfast for Black River Falls. One of the students, Kelly Guy said, "This was a wonderful learning experience. I'm not really an outside person. Through this outing I have learned how to become one with nature. I'm so thankful to the Ho-Chunk legislators and Ho-Chunk Nation for paying for this trip for me and the other youth." and "I hope we can do this next year. All Ho-Chunk Youth should learn how to survive outside and canoe down rapids."

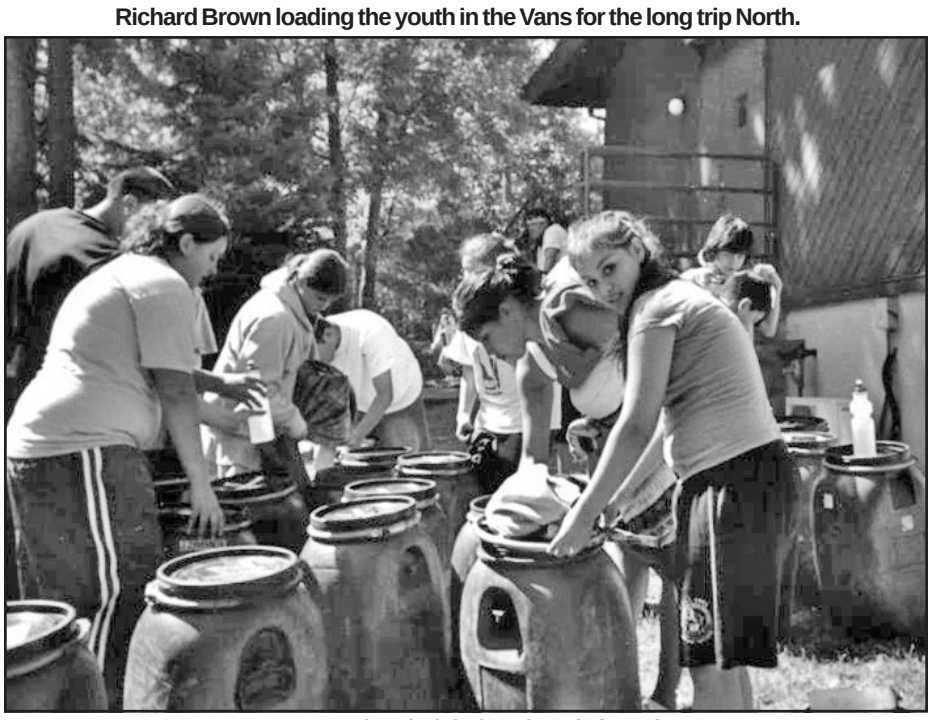

Thanks again from all the rest of us to the Ho-Chunk Nation and the legislators for sponsoring this trip for our youth, and a big Thank You to Bob Ziebarth, organizer for thinking about our youth. Dear Friend, "I pray that you may enjoy good health and that all may go well with you. 3 John 2

Youth Summer Summit

By Cookie La Mere
Design Director

On August 14, 2006, through August 17, 2006, the Youth and Learning Center sponsored the Youth Summer Summit at Crockett's Camp Ground.

On Monday, orientation and the pitching of the tents took place. Ho-Chunk Youth from all areas came together. The youth chose to divide themselves into five teams. They named themselves: A Team, Native Nijas, Ballerz, Native Nerds, and Chiefs. The head Cook was Mercodes WhiteEagle, and her helpers were, Alberta Decorah, Liza Deer, Joyce Greendeer, John Richards, Lucy Snake, and Marty Ybarra. Tuesday, and Wednesday, the Workshops started at 10:45 a.m. and went throughout the day.

Community Health Nurse, Abby Larson and Youth Services Coordinator, Lanette Walker, explained the workshops presented.

- CPR-Pat Boyles gave a presentation on what to do for choking victims. Also, how to contact Emergency Medical Personal. Pat encouraged Kids to get certified in CPR. If interested in CPR certifications call Pat Boyles at the BRF community Health office.
- Hunter Safety-Was presented by various people from three areas. It was not a course that the youth were certified in however, it hit the safety points about the course. There were a couple hands on activities.
- AODA Training-AODA issues were discussed each day of camp. The youth wrote down questions they had about drugs and the staff presented the answers. The kids put on two plays that they developed on their own, acted out and narrated. The skits were very well done!
- Methamphetamine Presentation-Special officer Geise gave a very eye opening speech and video presentation on the effects of meth. She talked about how quickly people get addicted and how they will forget about their children.
- HIV/AIDS-Presenter Shannon Bad Warrior went over a hand out named S.W.AT. S -say no to unsafe behavior…W -be prepared to explain Why you want to be safe…A -provide alternatives… T -talk it out. She also had the youth do some role playing using the worksheet. A great presentation on cause, risk factors, how to prevent exposure to HIV. It was discussed that HIV's increasing greatly in straight women.
- Teen dating-A presentation was given on practical aspects of teen dating using the S.W.A.T. outline. Teens practiced communication skills.
- Alcohol & Drug-The effects alcohol and drugs were outlined and discussed most teens are familiar with the effects. A demonstration using a blindfold spinning and wandering around was used to simulate the effects of drugs and alcohol.
- Teen pregnancy issues-The Community Health Nurse, Abby Larson presented statistics on teen pregnancy in Native American community. Implication of teen pregnancy was discussed. Pregnancy prevention and abstinences or delaying sex were discussed as well as what to do if you do become pregnant. Kids were encouraged to talk to their parents and follow religious and cultural guidance's.

In the evenings after a healthy supper there was discussion on youth government. Guest Elder Donald Blackhawk spoke to the youth about Life and how they will become the leaders of the Great Ho-Chunk Nation someday.

The first night's discussions included, a fundraising, youth activities as a group and issues the youth in attendance had. They found ways to come together and decide what to do and how they needed to go about getting it. They also celebrated 3 birthdays prior to a dance they decided to hold, so they could stay awake an extra hour.

Thursday, the kids started packing up, after a good breakfast. They had a relay race with the five teams. A Team came in 1st place. At 12:00 p.m. they served a bag Lunch. She inquired if the previous Construction Manager had oversight of this project and if not, who did. Rep. Thompson returns to the meeting at 11:05 a.m.

PRESENTATIONS:

HSR/Wittenberg Ancillary Presentation: Brad Simonson and Dan Bloomer from HSR Associates were present to discuss the changes that have been made to the plan scheme as a reduced facility from 600 machines to 200 machines at the Wittenberg Ancillary Site. The original cost for the facility at 600 machines was $24,000,000.00 as of May 5, 2005. The proposed cost as of July 10, 2006 for the 200 machine facility is $12,091,000.00. This will include the building, all furniture with the exception of the machines, the landscaping and the parking lot.

Rep. Alvin Cloud stated the profits at Ho-Chunk Casino are down and feels that is project is too costly. It could cost about $20,000,000.00 to fully build, equip and staff this ancillary site.

Rep. Ona Garvin asked what the projections are for the win per day and the timeline of the payback to the tribe for construction at the proposed facility will be.

Silas Cleveland stated that the Legislature cut the professional services line item in the Department of Business budget, so they do not have the funds to have an analysis completed. With only 200 machines at the facility the design of the building is to attract the premium players from the Wausau and Stevens Point areas.

Rep. Elliott Garvin asked what the cost of the analysis would be for the site. Silas Cleveland stated that the cost would be about $30,000.00. MOTION by Rep. E. Garvin to table the Wittenberg proposal and grant the funds needed to have an analysis completed on the win per day and payback to the tribe for the facility before continuing with approval of the plans. Ms. Blackdeer is in favor of the ICWA Subchapter and not ICWA Integrated in Chapter 48. They are scheduled to meet again in the near future.

Freezing Tomatoes

By Denise Dodson, RD, CD, CLC
House of Wellness, CH Nutritionist

Now is the time of year when you can still get a good buy on tomatoes at your local farmer's market or road side stand.

You can freeze tomatoes if you're going to use them to make juice, sauce, or soup (for other uses, frozen tomatoes would be too mushy).

By following the tips below, you'll be able to enjoy the memories of summer tomatoes well into winter.

Preparation – Select firm, ripe tomatoes with deep red color.

Raw – Wash and dip in boiling water for 30 seconds to loosen skins. Core, seed and peel. Freeze whole or in pieces. Pack into containers, leaving l-inch headspace. Seal and freeze. Use only for cooking or seasoning as tomatoes will not be solid when thawed.

Juice – Wash, sort and trim firm, vine-ripened tomatoes. Cut in quarters or eighths. Simmer 5 to 10 minutes. Press through a sieve. If desired, season with 1 teaspoon salt to each quart of juice. Pour into containers, leaving headspace. Seal and freeze.

Stewed – Remove stem ends, peel and quarter ripe tomatoes. Cover and cook until tender (10 to 20 minutes). Place pan containing tomatoes in cold water to cool. Pack into containers, leaving headspace. Seal and freeze.

Being Menopositive

By Kathleen Clemons, MS
Exercise Physiologist

It can be a difficult time for some. It can be a breeze for others. What is it? It is menopause. I read this book recently and found it to be very interesting and helpful with good advice for all women who will eventually go through this transition in their lives. What follows is a brief explanation of what starts happening to your body, starting in the late 30's and progressing as you age.

As you approach and go through menopause, your body decreases the production of estrogen. As soon as your fat cells detect a slightly lower estrogen level, they come to your aid to produce estrogen for you. Fat cells producing estrogen? This may surprise you but it's one of their highly evolved functions. They know that eventually your ovaries will stop producing estrogen, so they start preparing to take over the ovaries' job. They increase their size, number, and ability to store fat. Interestingly enough, the fat cells in your waist grow the largest because they are better equipped to produce estrogen than the fat cells in your buttocks, hips and thighs. The larger and more active your abdominal fat cells become, the more estrogen will be produced, and the more benefits (although we don't perceive this extra fat as beneficial) you will receive: fewer hot flashes, milder mood swings, less intense PMS, improved sleep, a reduced risk of osteoporosis and an overall easier transition. Ironically, the very weight gain we hate is actually beneficial for us.

The harder you try to lose weight by dieting the more powerful your menopausal fat cells will become, and the more weight you will gain. You should practice a "minimizing weight gain" approach. You do this in several ways and one of them is by exercising. Exercise is second only to attitudes in how you transition through menopause. Women who exercise regularly gain only one half the weight of those who are sedentary. How much exercise is enough? 150 minutes a week would be the minimum spread out throughout the week (i.e. 30 minutes five times a week). If you can do more, working up to 60+ minutes each workout five times a week, that would be optimal. Many women ignore weight training, thinking that is only for men. It is extremely important for women too as it helps build strong bones, helping prevent osteoporosis. You are at a much higher risk of developing osteoporosis after menopause. Weight training should be done 2-3 times a week, working 8-10 separate muscle groups each time.

Other tips that were given to ease the transition were to eat regularly. Women who transitioned easier didn't skip meals, forbid snacking, or eat the recommended three meals a day. They ate five to six small meals a day. In addition your feelings about the transition, your body, and your weight affect your experience. Those women who have the most positive attitudes going into the transition have the least amount of weight gain and other potential problems by the time they come out of the transition.

So as women, we cannot stop this process but we can make it easier on ourselves by taking care of our bodies. Your health and the choices you make are up to you. You can choose to be unhealthy or you can be meno-positive.

Why do I need a Well Child exam?

"One of the easiest ways to protect your child's health."
Eileen Decorah, PA-C

I'm not sick, why do I need a check-up? Well child exams help you stay healthy. They can identify problems early and prevent them from becoming bigger. For your parents, the exam is a time to learn about your growth, development, behavior, and unique personality. It's also good time for your parents to ask questions about your health.

What happens to me at a well child exam? First your mom or dad fills out a healthy history, and you get a head to toe exam.

The exam checks-

- your development, mental – physical – social
- how you're eating and growing
- your hearing and vision
- your mouth and teeth
- your immunizations

Your parents will get health information and referrals, if you need them.

When should I have these check-ups?

2 months 4 months 6 months 9 months	12 months (1 yr.) 15 months 24 months (2 yrs.)	36 months (3 yrs) 4 years 5 years yearly after that.

Check-ups may be fun Or not so fun. But they help keep me well! To schedule a Well Child Check-up Phone your tribal clinic or family doctor.

They will continue to do the regular work in the area and also assist with emergency calls or requests, but they will no longer spend the allotted amount of time they have been, on the Reserve, the VCSD felt that they are not capable of doing what was asked of them by way of the agreement. CenturyTel offers telephone assistance to individuals living on Tribal Lands

CenturyTel is energizing its efforts to inform residents of two assistance programs that provide discounts on initial telephone installation and basic monthly telephone service to qualifying low-income consumers. Link-Up helps these consumers pay the initial costs of getting telephone service. Lifeline provides certain discounts on monthly service for qualified subscribers.

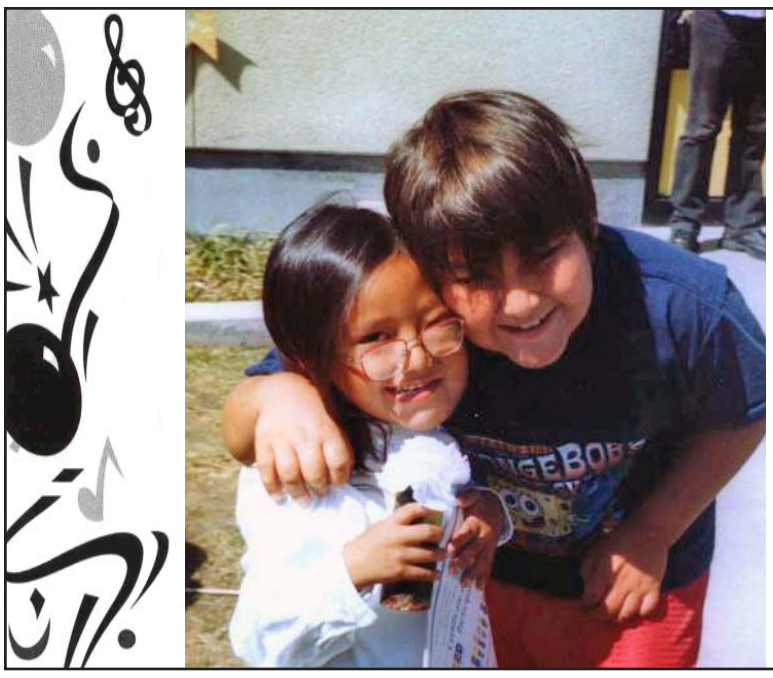

Lifeline and Link-Up are available to qualifying consumers in every U.S. state (territory and commonwealth). Qualifications for participation vary by state. States with their own programs have their own criteria. In states that rely solely on the federal program, the subscriber must participate in one of the following programs: Medicaid, food stamps, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Federal Public Housing Assistance or the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP), Head Start, the National School Lunch Program's Free Lunch Program, Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) or if the Household annual gross income is at or below 135% of the federal poverty level.

The amount of the discounts also varies by state. Link-Up helps qualified low-income consumers to connect to the telephone network. This federal program offsets 1/2 of the initial hook-up fee, up to $30, for qualified households.

Residents of American Indian and Alaskan Native tribal lands may qualify for an additional $25 of enhanced Lifeline support monthly and up to $70 of expanded Link-Up support beyond current levels. An individual living on tribal lands may also qualify for Lifeline and Link-Up discounts if he or she participates in one of the above programs or one of the following federal programs: Bureau of Indian Affairs General Assistance or Tribally Administered Temporary Assistance to Needy Families.

Individuals living in a CenturyTel service area should call 800-201-4099 or visit www.centurytel.com/lifeline to inquire about eligibility.

HO-CHUNK NATION 2006 CENSUS QUESTIONNAIRE

The first mailing of the Census Questionnaire was June 2, 2006. As of August 23, 2006, the Nation has received approximately 1100 responses. The Nation is asking for your support in filling out and returning the questionnaire in the self-addressed stamped envelope that has been provided to you along with the questionnaire. The questionnaire takes approximately 5 minutes. The demographic and economic data and other information that is collected from the census are critical to understanding the social and economic well-being of the Ho-Chunk population. The information received will be used as a statistical tool; for example, grant writing.

The 2006 Census will replace the outdated Census of 1994. The Ho-Chunk population numbered approximately 2200(+) in 1994 vs. 6200(+) in 2006.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact Planning at 800.294.9343, extension 1280. The Ho-Chunk Nation respectfully appreciates your cooperation and participation.
Please fill out and send back your Census Questionnaire as soon as possible.
